North Carolina Marriages

The marriages in this issue are marriage bonds on file in the North Carolina Archives in Raleigh. The marriages for Stokes, Surry, Rutherford, Burke and Lincoln counties were published in Volume IV of the Martin Family Quarterly. Included in this issue are additional marriages for Lincoln county and one for Burke county which were overlooked in Volume IV. All marriages were copied from the earliest date to 1850 - some counties were copied a little further than 1850.

In North Carolina it was customary for a couple to have their banns read and publically announced in church concerning the proposed marriage. It is our understanding that this procedure took several months. If the couple didn't want to wait that long the groom and a bondsman would put up a bond and could be married immediately. The bond was taken out with the clerk of court where the bride resided.

If the couple did not have a bond then there is no marriage record in the Archives. The marriages, other than bonds, can sometimes be proven through deed, church records, newspapers and probate records.

We are in the process of abstracting marriages from other court records and checking courthouses for additional marriages not in the Archives.

Each bond contained bride and groom's name, date of bond, bondsman's name, name of witness and sometimes additional information. The later marriages give the exact date of marriage.

Subscribers who wish the additional information on a bond should send a self addressed stamped envelope to the editor and we will send the information to you.

Do you have death certificates for all your ancestors who died after 1900? Some will be incomplete or incorrect, but most states include birthdate, birthplace, mother's name and birthplace, father's name and birthplace and cause of death of the deceased. The name of the informant for the death certificate may also open new avenues of research. Write to the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Govt. Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402. Ask for "Where to Write for Birth & Death Records" - "Where to Write for Marriage Records" - Where to Write for Divorce Records." Each brochure is 35¢ and will tell you how much money to send and where to obtain documents for each state.
